

Bay Currents Talks

On Bay Area natural history and environmental issues, with emphasis on positive solutions

Second Tuesdays — Refreshments 7 PM, talks 7:30 - 9 PM

St. Alban's Parish Hall, 1501 Washington (at Curtis, one block N. of Solano), Albany

Free — but seating is limited

Sept. 12: Ospreys, Hooray!

After at least a century away, ospreys are nesting in the Bay in growing numbers - they even have their own festival and web cam.

Tony Brake, a founding member of the San Francisco Bay Osprey Coalition, brings the tale along with fabulous photos of the graceful but fierce "fish hawks."

Tues., Oct 10: Bringing you Bay Nature

David Loeb co-founded Bay Nature magazine and served for 17 years as editor and later publisher. Recently retired, he reflects on the joys and challenges of publishing a local nature magazine and the importance of understanding the natural world where we live.

Tues., Nov. 14: Greening the Gray

Our paved-over cities are being slowly converted to green spongy habitats. How do rain gardens, trees, and soils benefit water, wildlife, and people? Hear about the history and potential from Peter Schultze-Allen, who brought "low impact development" to Emeryville's legacy of heavy industry and pollution.

Short descriptions of past Bay Current talks here.